Doing Too Much

"I fear I'll do too much," said James; "I'll more than earn my pay; I don't intend to bust my hames, a-toiling round all day, for such a stipend as I get in this dog-gasted store, and if the boss would see me sweat, he'll have to pay me more." "The day is far too short," said John, "for all I wish to do; the hours fly past, and daylight's gone, before I'm half way through. And though my pay looks pretty sick, I'll work like old Sam Hill, till boss observes that I'm a brick, and leads me to his till." The boss was keeping tab on them, as bosses always do; to James he said, "Young man, ahem! We have no use for you. The lad who fears he'll do too much with tramps will roam the pike, and when he's old he'll be in touch with poor-farms and the like." To John he said, "I've marked your gait, since first you came last fall, and early you have toiled and late, although your pay was small. Oh, all the time and every day, such lads employers seek, and I will now increase your pay by fifty cents a week." WALT MASON.

WOOD LUGGERS AT WORK.

Boats Open Spring Season on the Potomac River.

With very few exceptions the entire fleet of wood and lumber luggers which engage in traffic on the Potomac river, and which have been laid up since early last fall, have returned to commission, and before the end of this week the entire fleet will be in service. Within the last day or two the schooners Maude S., Orbit and Carrie Revell have arrived with the first cargoes of the season, and are ready for several months of efficient service.

At present the carriers are employed in bringing lumber to the city wharves here to replenish stocks exhausted during the winter, and it will be six weeks or longer before the vessels take up other lines of work.

FAITH IN PUBLIC OPINION AS MEANS TO ABOLISH WAR

S. Richard Fuller Addresses Women's Peace Party Advocating an International Court.

S. Richard Fuller of Boston delivered an address yesterday afternoon before the Washington branch of the women's peace party at the New Willard Hotel on "After the War—The Way Out," in which he urged the women present to stimulate public opinion to demand an international court and international police to compel international peace.

"We should be grateful for the security of America," Mr. Fuller said, "but sorrowful for the misery of those involved in the present struggle. After the war, the way out is a change in public opinion.

National Hatred Fostered.

"For centuries public opinion has sanctioned national hatred, national suspicion and national jealousy, but you must change public opinion so it will not sanction the transition of all Europe into a chamber house.

"If the women will do their part in shaping public opinion, this war will be the last great war. A new democracy will arise from the birth throes of this war, in which there will be no more secret treaties and no more declarations of war by governments without consent of the people. We must have a referendum of the people of the nations concerned." In the new democracy the people, and people alone, shall have the authority to declare war, and women shall have equal voice with men.

FLEMISH GIRLS TO TELL THEIR WAR EXPERIENCES

Congressional Union for Woman's Suffrage to Give Two Entertainments.

Four Flemish girls, refugees from the lowlands of Belgium, have been invited by the Congressional Union for Woman's Suffrage to tell their experiences at a meeting in the New Masonic Temple, 13th street and New York avenue, about the middle of April.

Another entertainment planned by the union is at the home of Mrs. Nevil Monroe Hopkins, where Miss Hazel MacKaye is to give readings from the play "War Brides."

The attention of Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the executive committee of the Congressional Union, was called today to a published statement that the union would force action at the time of the presidential election with one of the national political parties.

Dr. N. A. Cobb to Lecture.

Dr. N. A. Cobb of the Department of Agriculture is scheduled to lecture on "Nematodes, Their Relation to Man, Kind and Agriculture," in the new building of the National Museum tomorrow afternoon at 4:45 o'clock. This lecture is the second of a series of five weekly lectures to be given under the auspices of the National Academy of Sciences for the public. It will be illustrated by lantern slides and the projection of the living animals on the screen.
